

Fake News Detection Dataset

| Title                                                    | Text                                                                                                    | Label |
|----------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Government announces new education policy                | The government announced a new education policy to improve access to higher education.                  | REAL  |
| Scientists publish new climate study                     | Researchers published a study examining recent changes in global climate patterns.                      | REAL  |
| University launches scholarship program                  | A university announced a new scholarship program for undergraduate students.                            | REAL  |
| Local hospital opens new emergency unit                  | The hospital opened a new emergency unit to provide additional medical services.                        | REAL  |
| City starts public transport improvements                | City officials announced improvements to public transportation infrastructure.                          | REAL  |
| Weather department issues rain advisory                  | The national weather service issued an advisory warning residents about heavy rain.                     | REAL  |
| New software update improves security                    | The company released a software update containing several security improvements.                        | REAL  |
| Researchers develop new battery technology               | Scientists reported progress on a battery technology designed to improve energy storage.                | REAL  |
| School introduces computer science program               | The school introduced a computer science program for students interested in tech.                       | REAL  |
| Central bank announces interest rate decision            | The central bank announced its latest decision on the national interest rate.                           | REAL  |
| Scientists discover miracle pill that cures all diseases | A viral article claims that one secret pill can instantly cure every known disease.                     | FAKE  |
| Celebrity says drinking water makes people immortal      | A social media post claims a celebrity discovered a method that makes people immortal.                  | FAKE  |
| Government gives every citizen a free vacation           | A viral post claims that the government will give every citizen a brand new vacation.                   | FAKE  |
| Eating one food makes you live forever                   | An online article claims that eating one special food can make humans live forever.                     | FAKE  |
| Secret phone code gives unlimited free internet          | A viral message claims that entering a secret code on any phone will provide unlimited free internet.   | FAKE  |
| Scientists confirm humans can breathe underwater         | A fabricated story claims scientists have proven that humans can breathe underwater.                    | FAKE  |
| Moon will disappear for seven days                       | A social media post claims the moon will completely disappear from the sky for seven days.              | FAKE  |
| New app guarantees instant millionaire status            | An advertisement claims a new app can make every user a millionaire within one day.                     | FAKE  |
| Drinking coffee increases height overnight               | A viral article falsely claims that drinking a special coffee can increase a person's height overnight. | FAKE  |

|                                                 |                                                                                                        |      |
|-------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Government announces free private islands       | Leading online story claims every citizen can receive a free private island                            | FAKE |
| New public library opens in city                | City authorities opened a new public library offering books, study areas, and digital resources        | REAL |
| Technology company expands research             | The technology company announced plans to expand its research and development center to a new location | REAL |
| School organizes annual science competition     | Students participated in an annual science competition organized by the school                         | REAL |
| Health department launches vaccination campaign | The health department launched a public vaccination campaign for eligible citizens                     | REAL |
| Airport introduces updated security system      | The airport introduced an updated security system to improve passenger safety                          | REAL |
| Researchers study effects of sleep deprivation  | Researchers conducted a study investigating how sleep affects memory and learning                      | REAL |
| New electric buses added to transport fleet     | The transport authority added new electric buses to its public transportation fleet                    | REAL |
| University opens artificial intelligence lab    | The university announced the opening of a laboratory focused on artificial intelligence research       | REAL |
| Company reports quarterly financial results     | The company published its quarterly financial results and business performance                         | REAL |
| Farmers receive new agricultural training       | Agricultural officials organized training sessions to help farmers improve crop yields                 | REAL |